Dear President Bassett,

I have just learned of your decision to reschedule the talk by Dr. Norman Finkelstein, your earlier cancellation of which prompted my letter to you dated April 23, 2009. This is a welcome development. It sends a positive message about the importance of academic freedom, especially on issues relating to the Middle East.

The promotion of academic freedom is fundamental to credibility and relevance of institutions of higher education.

Sincerely,

Virginia H. Aksan
