INDIVIDUAL MEMBERSHIP BENEFITS
Individual members receive the following benefits (members are sent back issues if renewing after publication):

♦ International Journal of Middle East Studies (IJMES)
Published quarterly. The major scholarly journal in the field, IJMES includes articles by Middle East studies specialists and an extensive section of book reviews. Members are sent both a printed copy and have access to the digital library of IJMES.

♦ MESA Review of Middle East Studies (RoMES)
This digital publication features articles on the state of the art, MESA presidents’ addresses, book reviews and reviews of audio-visual materials, information about online resources in Middle East studies and other information about MESA and its members.

♦ Issues in Middle East Studies (IMES)
Published biannually. This new format of the association newsletter offers articles on current trends and topics in Middle East studies, including articles on legislative and community outreach topics, notes on the activities of MESA’s Committee on Academic Freedom, and timely pieces relating to the annual meeting.

♦ Discounted meeting registration fees
Members are entitled to reduced rates for annual meeting registration, providing a savings of as much as $125 depending upon registration category.
